

DRGR Fact Sheet

Modify Activity Types

---

Release 7.9

U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development
April 2014

Ability to Modify Activity Types

The system prior to R7.9 did not always allow users to change the Activity Types on Edit Activity pages. This was due to following business rules:

- In DRGR performance measures are customized by Activity Type.
- The system did not allow the change if there were performance measures associated with prior Activity Type that were not associated with new Activity Type.

Previously, the system would force the Grantees to either remove or zero out performance measure data entered in the QPRs before the activity type could be changed. In R7.9 the Activity Type change has been simplified by prompting the Grantees with a message that performance measures will be lost on change as shown below. Note that this message is only displayed if the system detects that there are user provided performance measures that are not associated with new Activity Type.

On selection of OK the system will automatically remove the performance measures that are no longer associated with new Activity Type from the Action Plan and Performance Reports. It is recommended the grantee then enter additional performance measures under the new activity type. Note that previous QPRs will still display the old performance measures, but the reports will reflect the new performance measures.