

2022 HUD Community Workshops

At A Glance

HUD is excited to announce the next round of Community Workshop, running from February through June 2022! Community Workshops are:

- 12-week workshops which allow communities to access direct TA through an online, group learning, peer-to-peer collaborative approach with built-in 1-on-1 support from facilitators.
- Designed to support CoC and ESG recipients to make strategic decisions to aid rehousing efforts.
- Designed to expand communities' understanding of how to advance racial equity in their homelessness response system.

The following topics are being offered in the next round of workshops:

- Building Community-Wide Support for Housing Focused Practices
- Coordinated Entry: Prioritization and Assessment
- Coordinated Entry: Referral Best Practices
- Partnering with People with Lived Experience
- System Performance Improvement using Stella P

Specific time and logistics are tailored to each topic-specific workshop, but the following is a general overview of expectations:

- Pre-work will need to occur before sessions start (~1-6 hours)
- Participation in 3-session Equity Foundational Workshop as prerequisite for all topics (~10 hours over 3 weeks)
- Attendance of virtual sessions over the three-month period (5-6 sessions depending on topic, 90 mins per session)
- Participation in TA 1-on-1 support between sessions (~30-60 mins between each session)
- Practice of skills learned and completion of specific assignments between sessions (~1-6 hours between each session)

Communities should have 2 to 4 participants for the workshop. Some workshops may have data or technical requirements for participation.

Interested communities should connect with their HUD TA Regional Team Point of Contact for more information about workshop registration and enrollment for Spring 2022. Enrollment is not guaranteed, and preference will be given in the order of registration, so contact your Regional Team Point of Contact today!
